

Jesus had disciples,
his friends who followed him.
He told them he was God's King
who'd come to deal with sin.

But Jesus didn't act like
the other kings they knew.

They didn't understand yet
what he had come to do.

Then one day his disciples
were having quite a fight.
They wanted to be greatest
and each thought he was right.

But Jesus told them,

“The

BIG

must be

small.

A king

must be a servant.

And I

will serve you all.”

His friends were all astounded.
Their brains just nearly burst!

“To have a royal servant?
Well that would be a first!”

“We think he might be crazy.

He’s a topsy turvy King!

Or else this topsy turvy man
makes sense of everything!”
